The challenges

AppricotAds were looking for a reliable, scalable, and robust platform. By the time they found Affise they tested four other systems pretty thoroughly, however, none of them met their needs.

Talking to Affise AppricotAds shared their concerns related to the features they had a demand for, particularly they were granular targeting, extended campaign reports, transparent and detailed analytics, intuitive, easy-to-use interface.

Solutions

Once AppricotAds described their needs, Affise assures that they could provide all the requested features. During the free trial period, AppricotAds realized that the platform indeed had everything they needed.

Affise offered its platform with a number of features needed for daily campaign management.

Affise and Adv.Cake Team Up Against eCommerce Ad Fraud

How to avoid overpaying publishers for orders or leads they didn't bring to you?

Preferences in the affiliate marketing industry gradually start to move towards advertisers who didn't want to spend money on clicks. People strive to pay for confirmed orders only, which are supposed to generate revenue. Still, there are instances where advertisers overspend because of the way some publishers generate sales.

Here at Affise we're in the permanent and serious battle against ad fraud. Our pursuit of a cleaner and more transparent industry has led us to a partnership with Adv.Cake. Their products can help you to detect and monitor several types of fraudulent behavior, report on cheating publishers, and save budget on affiliate marketing.
